

HÔTEL & PAVILLON
RÉGENT PETITE FRANCE
STRASBOURG

HOTEL & SPA

Located in the heart of Strasbourg and on the branches of the river - a history-filled place that still houses machinery from the former Strasbourg ice factory buildings - a witness to the industry of the last century.

The REGENT PETITE FRANCE Hotel & Spa provides its guests with an exceptional setting, where the past of the three-century-old buildings contrasts with the resolutely modern decoration.

The hotel is surrounded by canals and half-timbered houses. Today it is an iconic five-star establishment typical of the picturesque Petite France district, included on the UNESCO World Heritage List since 1988.

THE PAVILLON

The REGENT PETITE FRANCE opened its Pavillon in 2015 in an ancient Alsatian house. This building is part of the half-timbered houses so typical of the Petite France district, complementing the hotel's current offer, with 17 resolutely design bedrooms and a seminar room for 12 people.

HISTORY & HERITAGE

This old, 17th-Century mill was home to the “Klareiswerke zur Dünzenmühle” ice factory from the 19th Century. The ice factory produced ice blocks for shops, brewers and private homes throughout the region. Production dropped when refrigerators came on the scene, then stopped completely in 1989. The REGENT PETITE FRANCE hotel opened on 1 May 1992, offering its guests an exceptional setting, combining history and modern times.

THE SIMONE VEIL MINISTERIAL SUITE

The suite was given this name in honour of the woman who worked all her life both to defend women's rights and to build Europe.

Its 84-m² surface area houses two bedrooms, two bathrooms and a spacious lounge, fitted and decorated with refinement to create harmony and foster well-being.

It has an outstanding view of the canals and the covered bridges with their fortified towers.

THE LOUISE WEISS PRESIDENTIAL SUITE

The Presidential suite was named after Louise Weiss in tribute to a female politician born in Alsace. Its surface area of 89 m2 can be extended to include an adjoining 25-m2 room.

This light-filled room offers an unique 180° view of the canals and Strasbourg's architectural heritage. A contemporary decorative style, combining delicate fabrics and selected furniture was chosen for this room.
